COMP333 Assignment 1
Individual Report

Summary

Each person in our group contributed equally to the assignment. Although, this may have been a different aspect of the assignment, the weighting was fair. Using a shared repository on GitHub, Mark and I completed the majority of the code whereas John was able to put our algorithm into words and conjure a report that we were able to submit. Further to this, John was able to help by writing test cases that were able to aid our testing and development of the assignment.
